RapidShare Toolbar Crack Full Version Free

The RapidShare Toolbar from RapidShare is a useful and easy-to-use toolbar that seamlessly integrates within Internet Explorer and enables you to get notified each time you receive a new e-mail message, easily search for new articles and find out the best downloads online. What's interesting is that RapidShare Toolbar comes with predefined components and allows you the select only those components that you want to be displayed on the main toolbar, but you can also add your personal apps and utilities. By using RapidShare Toolbar you can set multiple e-mail accounts and get notified each time you receive a new e-mail message, block annoying pop-ups and ads, clear browse cache and history, view the current local weather for a specific location, as well as to listen to online radio stations and podcasts. Designed with the RapidShare community in mind, this toolbar helps you to read the most recent articles on the Internet while listening to radio, accessing the Windows Media Player application and performing math calculations without leaving the browser. Because sometimes you do not want to be disturbed from your daily work, RapidShare Toolbar enables you to open your e-mails and other notifications in a new window or tab, as well as to play a specific sound file when a new e-mail arrives, so you will get notified each time you receive important messages. Also, you have the possibility to search specific radio channels and listen to your favorite podcasts, as well as to analyze weather conditions for your preferred location. The only downside to this toolbar is that the weather gadget does not allow you to view the weather for multiple locations. You have to search for a country or city name or simply change the location from the main window, then view all the information. Otherwise, it should please the entire audience. To sum things up, RapidShare Toolbar enables you to quickly listen to your favorite radio podcasts and get notified each time you receive new e-mails, without leaving the browser.
