Alchemy Eye Serial Key provides system monitor information for your MicroITX through the use of its integrated, programmable interface. Each system generates a unique key and communicates a certain series of characters that can be used to identify the system. These characters are stored in a log file that can be read using a "keyboard macro" that can be programmed through the use of a keypad or a keyboard. Each key can be assigned a macro to perform a specific function. If you lose the key (it breaks or is changed) you can write the information in the log file so that the technician can understand the details of the event that took place. The information in the log file includes system ID number, server name, program ID number, type of program, availability and performance information, and server physical location. By having the log information, you can use it in conjunction with your own customer support system to identify the server and gain access to the information.
